4	متن زیر را با دقت بخوانید و به سوالات داده شده پاسخ دهید. There is no way to express numbers or percentages how much parents love their children. Parents give life to their children, spare no pains to raise them, provide them with guide lines, help them solve their problems, and love them unconditionally. As children, we often forget how much they have done for us in our lives. If we think	17 for a few minutes about their love and support it can help us learn love and respect. One of the best ways you can show respect for your parents is by being grateful. Gratitude is being thankful and appreciative for what you have. Aside from bringing you into the world, parents dedicate time, energy, and effort in order to make sure that your needs are met. There are several means to show them that you appreciate their efforts and respect them, but we mention just some of them here:

- Tell them face-to-face repeatedly. The easiest way to show gratitude is to thank them and tell them that you appreciate who they are and what they do.
- Do something small but meaningful. For example, clean the kitchen after dinner or take the trash out without being asked. Parents will notice and appreciate your acts of kindness.
- Encourage them on something they do well. For instance, tell your mom how great of a cook she is, or tell your dad how awesome he is at his job.

You may think of and find many other ways. Don't wait to show your appreciation. Do it now. Even the best of intention isn't as good as the poorest words like "thank you". Generally, when you are appreciative; it makes other people feel they want to do more for you. When we fail to show appreciation, it makes others feel they want to do less or nothing for us.

QUESTIONS:

40.What does "being grateful" mean?

……

41.What happens if we fail to show appreciation?
