It is very important for us to respect our elders. It is also important to note that elders were not born elders; they were kids like us and now have grown old. A few years later we will also grow older. If today we respect them, our present and future generations will learn to respect us, too. Elders have a lot to share with us: their experiences, failures and their successes. Thus we need to care for them because they deserve to be cared for.

6	متن زیر را بخوانید و به سوالات آن پاسخ دهید. For a long time, bilingual dictionaries were regarded as the main tools for language learning activities because they had to do lots of translation. In fact, such dictionaries did their job very well because translation was the end point. However, there was a shift of attention to monolingual dictionaries when more and more people around the world needed communication. Unlike bilingual dictionaries, monolingual dictionaries provide more information for their users. For example, they offer word definitions, sample sentences, common errors made by language learners, and a lot more. Linguists believe that using monolingual dictionaries will result in vocabulary development and also fluency in writing and speaking. Still, many language teachers say that their students find working with monolingual dictionaries quite difficult. This is probably because their students are at basic levels of vocabulary knowledge. Looking up a new word in a monolingual dictionary will lead to facing some unknown words, which makes it much harder for beginners to enjoy vocabulary development. As a result, it is suggested that monolingual dictionaries be introduced to language learners after they have learned enough words.	O
