Respect is not only for people, you also need to respect nature. You should learn to respect nature and also teach it to your next generation. There are some good ways to improve the sense of respect for nature among society.

When you are outside with your children, take the time to show them the beauty of nature. Show them the blueness of the sky on a clear, bright day, or grey sky on a cloudy day. Ask your child to touch trees, rocks and leaves to feel the temperatures. You can also teach your kids the names of different plants, trees, and animals and practice identifying them. You can do these and show the beauty of nature in your yard or in your favorite park. You may buy a plant for each child that they can take care of inside or outside of the house. You should remind your children that all living creatures are parts of our world and are valuable in the natural environment.

It was a winter morning. The students were busy listening happily to their lovely teacher at an elementary school in Shaft, Guilan when suddenly the heater of the class caught fire. The fire was everywhere very quickly. The dedicated teacher who had felt the danger tried to save each child by holding them one by one in his arms and taking them out.

But a strong wind closed the door of the class, and the fire was so high that he could hardly get out of it. Finally, although he could save all 30 students lives, unfortunately he was so badly injured during the fire. He was seriously burnt in the face and around his head. His injuries were so bad that he was operated 17 times.

Hassan Omidzadeh, the distinguished teacher, died in a hospital in Fooman, in 2012, at the age of 58 as a result of the burns and injuries that he had received from the fire, 15 years after the school fire. This event was the hot news for many years. People were talking about Hassan's brave act everywhere. Hassan died because of his love for his students.

The name of school where the accident happened was changed to "self-sacrificing teacher, Hassan Omidzadeh". He also received the "medal of honor" from the Iranian President which was awarded to him by the Ministry of Education. His name, along with other heroes of our homeland like Riz Ali Khajavi is listed in school textbooks.
