5	Reading متن زیر را بخوانید و به سوالات داده شده پاسخ دهید. Paper dictionaries: These can be bought cheaply and last a very long time. Students usually complain that big dictionaries are too bulky to bring to class, so I recommend they have two – a pocket dictionary for class and a 'shelf' dictionary for home study. Online dictionaries: Many traditional dictionaries have online editions. Cambridge, for example, have an online advanced learners' dictionary at dictionary. Cambridge.org, which is easy to use and provides examples of word use. There are some excellent and specialized ones, such as etymonline.com, an etymological dictionary (dictionary that explains the origins of words) I sometimes use in class with higher level learners. Their value exists in ease of access to students who own computers, but it is probably also a good idea to direct your learners to traditional ones first. Electronic dictionaries: A big plus of electronic dictionaries is that they hold a large amount of data in a small space. However, they can be expensive, are attractive to thieves, and they become useless after a few years. The biggest problem exists, paradoxically, in their ease of use. Many students treat them as pocket translators rather than serious tools of study. I remember one student who electronically translated the whole of his course book into Chinese. His focus on quickly mapping single words to his mother tongue resulted in a load of nonsense! His dictionary was his safety net because it took him back to Chinese at the press of a button. But he didn't progress. 24) Electronic dictionaries may translate your sentence wrongly. a) True b) False 25) Some paper dictionaries are too heavy to carry to class. a) True b) False 26) Why does the writer mention "etymology.com"? a) To say that it is the best dictionary you can use b) To ask the teachers to use it in their own class c) To give an example of a specialized dictionary d) To mention he teaches some high-level students 27) The word plus in paragraph 4 is closet meaning to ..... a) goal b) gadget c) benefit d) process 28) The passage provides enough information to answer which of the following questions?
