There are many languages in the world, some of which may seem harder to learn for second or foreign learners. But which is the most difficult language to learn? Well, it's not easy to reply because there are many factors to discuss. A native speaker of French, for example, will find English easier to learn than Chinese, because English is very similar to French, while Chinese is very different. As a result, first Language can affect learning a second language. The greater the differences between the second language and the first, the harder it will be to learn. Many people answer that Chinese is the hardest language to learn, possibly influenced by the thought of learning the Chinese writing system. Besides, the pronunciation of Chinese does appear to be very difficult for many foreign learners. However, for Japanese speakers, who already use Chinese letters in their own language, learning writing will be less difficult than for speakers of languages using the Roman alphabet. Teachers and the conditions in which the language is learned also play an important role, as well as each learner's motivation for learning. If people learn a language because they need to use it for a living, they often learn it faster than people who study a language that has no direct use in their day to day life.

Respect is a way of acting well or thinking highly about something or someone. You respect those who are important to you. You show your respect by being polite and kind. When you are impolite or act badly toward people, they may feel sad or angry. But whom should you respect the most? You must care for those who always care for you. You know that your parents care for you for every little thing. You must love them, respect them, and care for them. Besides bringing you into the world, your parents spend their time, energy, and strength to make sure that you have what you need or want. Telling them that you thank them reflects the level of your respect for them. The easiest way to show your love and respect is to tell them that you appreciate who they are and what they do. You can also do something small but meaningful, for example, wash the dishes, clean the kitchen after dinner or clean the rooms. Your parents will pay attention to and appreciate your acts of kindness. You may also tell your mom how well she cooks, or tell your dad how great he is at his job. For most of parents, any of these small things can be a sign of respect.

46. Parents deserve respect only when they do small things for us. True False

47. Telling them that you thank them reflects the level of your respect. True False

48. Which of the following is the best definition of respect?

a) Having a lot of money

b) Thinking highly of someone or something and acting well toward them

c) Doing all the work for others

d) None of the above.

49. Which action can show respect to your parents?

a) appreciating your parents' skills b) Saying their work is unimportant

c) Only receiving gifts from them d) Doing nothing
