Note-taking is a necessary part of the language learning. It helps students learn, keep, and remember information. Taking notes make them think differently about the subject; it requires the learners to look at things differently. It also helps them pay attention during the class because they are actively listening and experiencing in the classroom. Not only do the students meet their needs by taking good notes in English classes, but everyone should find note-taking as the best way to work with written and spoken texts. Taking notes let learners check interesting points from what they are researching, reading or listening to. Writing some parts in their own words, also called note-making, makes everything clear for the notetakers when looking back at the text. It is a much better learning technique than just depending on your own memory.

Remember that word-for-word note-taking can hurt systematic thinking as it takes away the time of explaining ideas through examples and pictures by just writing down facts without context. It is why Isaac Newton said that he did great things just because he was sitting in the great men's classes and taking notes.

29. Note-taking makes learners different in thinking. True False

30. You should write in your own words when taking notes. True False

31. Which of the following is NOT true about note-taking?

For English teachers, a dictionary is essential for any teaching program and needs to be used carefully. A dictionary is the basic thing for any language class. The most important thing that a student should know is how to use it. A student needs to have at least three dictionaries available to learn English properly. The first one should be a bilingual dictionary that covers words in the native language as well as in English. The second one should be a monolingual dictionary that gives word information in English. The third one should be a native language dictionary. When teaching begins, learners will use a bilingual dictionary for simple translations.

Monolingual dictionaries are also necessary pieces of language learning studies, because they provide learners with definitions, pronunciations, etc. The problem becomes hard with studies when the students do not fully understand the words they are translating, and they get confused. Teachers know that they should clear up the confusion quickly before they jump into to the next lesson. When the students enter a more advanced level, they must have a native language dictionary that relates to their own language. When they do not understand the meaning of a translated word in their own native language, they can use this dictionary to figure it out.
