A dictionary is a reference book that explains the meaning of the words and expressions .wors in a dictionary are arranged in alphabetical order .making it easy to find them . the word '' dictionary'' comes from the Latin word ''dicto'' saying . there are different types of dictionaries . some explain the meanings and usage of words while other translate words between language . specialized dictionaries , such as biographical dictionaries , provide information about famous people and technical dictionaries focus on explaining complex technical terms. Dictionaries that define words clearly also provide additional details , such as their pronunciation ,often using the international phonetic alphabet (IPA). Bilingual dictionaries ,which translate between two languages usually include both dictionaries in one book – for example English to Persian and Percian to English . when using a bilingual dictionary it is important to select the correct meaning for a word . for instance the English word ''right'' can mean ''correct '' or the opposite of left . similarly the word '' present'' on function as an adjective (meaning not absent) a noun (gift) or a verb (to give) these differences also occur in other language so dictionaries list multiple meanings to help users choose the correct one .
